Protecting Yourself From Heat-Related Illnesses

Summers in Iowa are hot and sticky, with daytime highs averaging 90°F from June through August and frequent rain. Humidity levels in the 90 percent range create truly uncomfortable sweaty conditions. Outdoor activities such as biking, hiking, camping, running and gardening put us at risk for heat-related illness, both mild and severe. Heat rash, dehydration, heat cramps and heat exhaustion are just a few of the heat-related illnesses that can affect both young and old. Depending on the person and the situation, this can escalate quickly to heat stroke which occurs when the body's temperature is not controlled properly and rises above 104 degrees Fahrenheit. Heat stroke is the most serious heat-related illness and is a life-threatening emergency.

What can you do? Move to a cooler place, drink plenty of water, and if necessary seek medical attention. With heat stroke, call 9-1-1 immediately. Common sense prevention is the key. Reschedule your activity until the coolest time of the day. Dress for summer by wearing a wide brimmed hat, sunglasses, and lightweight, loose fitting, light-colored clothing to reflect heat and sunlight. Stay hydrated. Minimize exposure to the sun and always apply sunscreen. And remember, take a break by finding a cool place in the shade or go indoors.

The bottom line, Iowans know that we need to be aware of our weather surroundings and prepare for almost anything. One helpful resource is the information provided through the American Red Cross. Their data library contains preparedness and safety information for flooding, heat waves, thunderstorms, tornados, and many other issues that affect us locally. To access this information, please visit the Red Cross website at <http://www.redcross.org/prepare/disaster-safety-library> or download the Red Cross mobile application to your smart phone.

Heat Wave Safety Checklist

In recent years, excessive heat has caused more deaths than all other weather events, including floods. A heat wave is a prolonged period of excessive heat, often combined with excessive humidity. Generally temperatures are 10 degrees or more above the average high temperature for the region during summer months, last for a long period of time and occur with high humidity as well.

Know the Difference

Excessive Heat Watch—Conditions are favorable for an excessive heat event to meet or exceed local Excessive Heat Warning criteria in the next 24 to 72 hours.

Excessive Heat Warning—Heat Index values are forecast to meet or exceed locally defined warning criteria for at least 2 days (daytime highs=105-110° Fahrenheit).

Heat Advisory—Heat Index values are forecast to meet locally defined advisory criteria for 1 to 2 days (daytime highs=100-105° Fahrenheit).

How can I prepare?

- ❑ Listen to local weather forecasts and stay aware of upcoming temperature changes.
- ❑ The heat index is the temperature the body feels when the effects of heat and humidity are combined. Exposure to direct sunlight can increase the heat index by as much as 15° F.
- ❑ Discuss heat safety precautions with members of your household. Have a plan for wherever you spend time—home, work and school—and prepare for the possibility of power outages.
- ❑ Check the contents of your emergency preparedness kit in case a power outage occurs.
- ❑ Know those in your neighborhood who are elderly, young, sick or overweight. They are more likely to become victims of excessive heat and may need help.
- ❑ If you do not have air conditioning, choose places you could go to for relief from the heat during the warmest part of the day (schools, libraries, theaters, malls).
- ❑ Be aware that people living in urban areas may be at greater risk from the effects of a prolonged heat wave than are people living in rural areas.
- ❑ Get trained in first aid to learn how to treat heat-related emergencies.
- ❑ Ensure that your animals' needs for water and shade are met.

What should I do during a heat wave?

- ❑ Listen to a NOAA Weather Radio for critical updates from the National Weather Service (NWS).
- ❑ Never leave children or pets alone in enclosed vehicles.
- ❑ Stay hydrated by drinking plenty of fluids even if you do not feel thirsty. Avoid drinks with caffeine or alcohol.
- ❑ Eat small meals and eat more often.
- ❑ Avoid extreme temperature changes.
- ❑ Wear loose-fitting, lightweight, light-colored clothing. Avoid dark colors because they absorb the sun's rays.
- ❑ Slow down, stay indoors and avoid strenuous exercise during the hottest part of the day.
- ❑ Postpone outdoor games and activities.
- ❑ Use a buddy system when working in excessive heat.
- ❑ Take frequent breaks if you must work outdoors.
- ❑ Check on family, friends and neighbors who do not have air conditioning, who spend much of their time alone or who are more likely to be affected by the heat.
- ❑ Check on your animals frequently to ensure that they are not suffering from the heat.

Recognize and care for heat-related emergencies ...

Heat cramps are muscular pains and spasms that usually occur in the legs or abdomen caused by exposure to high heat and humidity and loss of fluids and electrolytes. Heat cramps are often an early sign that the body is having trouble with the heat.

Heat exhaustion typically involves the loss of body fluids through heavy sweating during strenuous exercise or physical labor in high heat and humidity.

- ❑ Signs of heat exhaustion include cool, moist, pale or flushed skin; heavy sweating; headache; nausea; dizziness; weakness; and exhaustion.
- ❑ Move the person to a cooler place. Remove or loosen tight clothing and apply cool, wet cloths or towels to the skin. Fan the person. If the person is conscious, give small amounts of cool water to drink. Make sure the person drinks slowly. Watch for changes in condition.
- ❑ If the person refuses water, vomits or begins to lose consciousness, call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number.

Heat stroke (also known as sunstroke) is a life-threatening condition in which a person's temperature control system stops working and the body is unable to cool itself.

- ❑ Signs of heat stroke include hot, red skin which may be dry or moist; changes in consciousness; vomiting; and high body temperature.
- ❑ Heat stroke is life-threatening. Call 9-1-1 or the local emergency number immediately.
- ❑ Move the person to a cooler place. Quickly cool the person's body by giving care as you would for heat exhaustion. If needed, continue rapid cooling by applying ice or cold packs wrapped in a cloth to the wrists, ankles, groin, neck and armpits.

The Shelby County Fair started in 1869 at its present location in Harlan, Iowa. There are presently four original buildings on the grounds, the Grandstand, Floral Hall, Presentation Building, and the Racehorse barn that are still being used each year during the fair.

Each year the board makes improvements to some area of the grounds including the buildings and the grounds itself. Recent improvements include updated sheep pens, air conditioning and updated wiring in the 4H Exhibit Building, cement in the Horse Barn, and an expansion to our small pets building. A new show ring has been built in 2014 with help from many generous donations from past 4H families and businesses. A few years ago a new building housing the fair and Extension offices during the fair was built, also new restrooms and bleacher in the Grandstands.

We feel we have a very successful fair each year. We are able to have a free gate at our fair because of the generosity of our corporate sponsors. The corporate sponsors of our fair also allow the fair board to provide free entertainment during the fair which has including strolling entertainment and a fireworks show. This past year we had 870 exhibits in our 11 open class non-livestock departments and 246 exhibits in our open class livestock departments. Shelby County is very fortunate to have active 4-H and FFA programs. The exhibitors from these organizations had 742 exhibits in the livestock shows and 525 non-livestock exhibits. The 4-H exhibitors also provide fairgoers with presentations, fashion shows, a cherry pie and muffin auction, celebrity steer show, and this year had an Ag Olympics Contest that was a huge hit. Our fair board tries to have something for everyone to enjoy. Other activities include: Apple Pie Morning for senior citizens, Pedal Tractor Pull, Mutton Busting, Bottle Calf contest, Bill Riley's Iowa State Fair Talent Search, Baby Contest, Kids Contest for ages 3-9, Tractor Pull, Figure 8 Race, Car Show, an antique machinery display with the modern machinery, and a model railroad display in the Nishna Valley Railroad Building. All of the activities and events at the fair would not be a success without the dedicated volunteers in our community and we appreciate each and every one.

Visit our new website www.shelbycountyiowafair.org to see our fair book and schedule of events. Don't forget to like us on Facebook to get updated information about what's going on daily and some amazing pictures.

nities We'd love to hear from you. Submit an article of 150 - 400 words about your town and we will include it in our monthly newsletter. Contact Carol at info@exploreshelbycounty.com

Elk Horn, Iowa, the largest rural Danish settlement in the US, where tourism is the main industry. Elk Horn is home to America's only authentic working Danish Windmill and the Museum of Danish America, which have both received awards for Iowa's top tourism attractions. Other tourist favorites that visitors don't want to miss are Bedstemor's Hus (Grandmother's House) and the Danish Countryside Vines and Wines, which hosts music nights on the last Thursday of each month.

Tivoli Fest is Elk Horn's big Danish Celebration held each Memorial Day weekend where visitors enjoy Danish foods, specialties and visits to unique shops. There is also a Viking encampment, parade, Danish folk dancers, an entertainment stage, children's activities, craft vendors, a beer tent, fireworks and much more. This year, the Tivoli Fest committee donated $5,000 of their profits towards the relocation of the town's Fitness Center, which is currently located in the basement of the old city hall. Renovation of the old fire station began last year to update it to become an exciting new Fitness Center facility that will be a more convenient and accessible location. To create a healthier community, the Museum of Danish America also features a Jens Jensen Prairie Landscape Park which includes Danish-designed outdoor exercise equipment and a trail which leads to Bedstemor's Hus.

On Friday and Saturday July 24th and 25th in Elk Horn, along with neighboring Danish village Kimballton, is the annual Crazy Dane Days & City-Wide Garage Sales. Deals will be found all around town including sales at the Windmill, Museum and Fajen Lumber Gift Shops, the Egg Krate, and Daisygirl Bath and Body. While in town, you can eat at one of our many restaurants including: the Flour Mill, Larsen's Pub, and the Village Café or grab your favorite coffee drink while you shop at Cof-feegirl's new and improved location.

Other upcoming events include the Brown Bag Lunch series titled, "Wine & War" at the Museum of Danish America on July 30th from noon-1pm. Bring your own lunch, and they'll provide the coffee. The Elk Horn Public Library is also hosting a free outdoor movie showing of "Bedtime Stories" in the City Park on Saturday, August 15 at dusk. And, new at the Danish Windmill is a miniature replica of a historic town in Denmark called Ebeltøft Village.

Be sure to like the City of Elk Horn on Facebook for future events, and we hope you can all visit us soon!
